Peculiar Emails?

- Good Friends sending Peculiar Emails??
  - You receive an email from a friend with a strange subject line sent from their iPhone
    - Check This Out!
    - Hello
    - Re:
  - Is the below email a real email from your friend? Should you click "View Here" and see what your friend wants you to read?

Peculiar Emails?

- Did the email really come from your friend's gmail acct?
  - Probably not, this is an example of a "spoofing email"

- But the email showed her correct email address, did her gmail acct get hack into?
  - Not Necessarily
    - Hacker's can send emails from a different address, yet display your friend's email address so it appears to come from her.

Probably did not originate from this gmail email acct

Peculiar Emails?

- Did the hacker gain access to your friend's email address list?
  - Not Necessarily
    - Email addresses can be harvested from emails that get forwarded when the legitimate email sender carelessly places a large number of email addresses in the "cc" field instead of "bcc".
      - cc field addresses are displayed for all viewers to see, while bcc emails have the email addresses hidden from view.
